P8 ON SHOESTRING, FALLS UT WINDOW, HITTING MAN.

Chance Dying of Fractured Skull -Salesman He Struck Has Broken Leg.

A loose shoestring was the cause of fatal accident to-day suffered by Chester Lawrence, newspaper man and companion of Horace Kearny last Saturday in the hydro-aeroplane flight which brought death to both men, was recovered from the sea yesterday. Later the body of Kearny was found a mile away. del Smith, a window cleaner, at work the second-story windows of the adway Rouss store, No. 549-553 Broadway. In tripping on the trailing estring as he walked without a lifebelt along a broad ledge between windows, Smith lost his balance, fell, struck a salesman of the store and received a fractured skull, which will probably cause his death.

Charles J. S. Garrett, of No. 146 Mucon street, Brooklyn, and J. F. Frey, be cashier, had stepped out of the front door of the store to the front of the display windows to make a critical napection of the windows when the window cleaner fell. As he pitched downward, head first, he struck Garrett. knocked him down and fell across his right leg, breaking it below the knee. Smith was unconscious when pedes ns ran to him. Both men were hurto St. Vincent's Hospital,
